JAPANESE FIRE CLAIMS

Reimbursement Was Discussed.

MASS MEETING ON STREET

Consul Saito's Plans for Submitting the Losses to the Government.

Something over a hundred Japanese attended the meeting Saturday evening on Nuuanu street which was called for the purpose of discussing plans for securing a settlement of the claims resulting from the sanitary fires during the epidemic of the plague last winter and spring.

The meeting was held in the Japanese Primary School and the dimly lighted room was filled with Japanese when Consul Miki Saito called the meeting to order. Mr. Saito said that it would be necessary to appoint a committee to investigate the losses sustained by all the Japanese merchants whose places of business had been in the burned district. Mr. Saito then read a statement of the purpose of the meeting, of which the following is a brief translation:

"1. This meeting is to ask the property losers to produce their itemized statement in English at their immediate convenience, if there may be any person who has not yet secured the same.

"2. To rectify the statements which have already been produced but have not been corrected since they have received back their property from the warehouse of Aala.

"3. To appoint a committee to receive rectified statement per block where they used to live before the sanitary fire."

The details concerning the fire have been sent to Washington, Mr. Saito said, and have been placed in the hands of the Japanese Minister there. Owing to the negligence of the property losers in giving in their statements of losses there has been delay in giving them to the Territorial Government. He urged all who had sustained losses to attend at once to this matter of preparing their statements.

It had been decided, he said, to allow three weeks' additional time within which to prepare these statements and he urged that all sufferers by the fires prepare their statements at once. He also asked that a list be given him as soon as possible of all those who had suffered loss by the fire whether in the large conflagration in Chinatown or in the burning of buildings about the city by order of the Board of Health during the plague epidemic, so that it might be possible for him to check up on all the losers when the lists were sent on of the property destroyed.

Mr. Saito spoke likewise of the losses at Kahuku, Maui, as a result of the plague fires and also at Hilo. These losses will be considered at a later date, Mr. Saito said. It was suggested that all who put in their list of losses have them attested by at least two witnesses, so that there might be less danger of any items being disallowed. Mr. Saito urged that all the members of the Japanese colony here should co-operate with him to have an early settlement made of the claims.

Short speeches were also made by Messrs. Susumago, T. Ishikawa and I. Kato, all of whom asked for information on some of the minor points with reference to the inventories.

Consul Saito intends to make a strong effort to have all the claims liquidated by the Territorial Government and, failing in this, will take the matter to the Federal Government.

HAUULU CASE NOLLE PROSSED

Parents Cited by Board of Education Over School Wrangle

At Haululu on Saturday Judge Rathburn heard the case in which the parents who refused to send their children to the public school taught by Christian Andrews were made defendants by action of the Board of Education. The case attracted much attention in the district surrounding Haululu, and when the case was called at 2 p. m., men, women and children crowded into the little courtroom. The action grew out of the establishment of a school of their own by the angry parents, who claimed Andrews had not done right by them.

Deputy Sheriff Pahia called the names of all summoned for trial, as follows: C. Kama, Nauiwa, Kaapa, Kalawaina, Almea, Mahanui, Kanai, Makepa, Kawilohoh, Naone, Kokiku, Nui, Malolo, Kilona, Makanu, Kahue, Kamani, Mokuhia, Poheka, Namano, Ioane, Kahuhi. The defendants took their places in front of the judge and the charge was read.

W. C. Achi, Enoch Johnson and Judge Kaulukou, who came to attend the political rally at the settlement, appeared for the defendants. The complainant, Christian Andrews, was not in court, and Mr. Achi moved for a dismissal of the complaint. The judge at once nolle prossed the complaint and the defendants were discharged.

Another case which attracted general interest was that of Joe Keakahiwa, charged with selling merchandise without a license. J. L. Kaulukou, W. C. Achi and Enoch Johnson appeared for the defendant. Judge Kaulukou asked for the discharge of the defendant. Deputy Sheriff Pahia stated in explanation of the arrest that the defendants had formed a club and sold merchandise to those who had membership in the club. Several bags of flour, the property of the club, were brought into the courtroom as exhibits. W. C. Achi argued that as the persons on the club rolls had formed the club, it was perhaps for their own convenience. It was claimed to be American merchandise. Taro was grown and sold in Haululu to others, and the laws were not considered violated. Flour was manufactured in America, and as Hawaii was a part of the United States, the selling of the product here could not be considered a violation of the laws. The goods so brought here were not foreign imported goods.

The further hearing of the case was postponed, as the judge stated that he desired to look up certain points of law raised by Mr. Achi.
